

AN EVENTFUL VOYAGE

MERLE ECKLES WRITES VIVID DESCRIPTION OF HIS TRIP TO FRANCE

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Eckles, of North Central avenue, are in receipt of a long letter from their son, Merle Eckles, still in service in France enclosing a description of his voyage "across the pond" which he was not permitted to send them until after the armistice had been signed and censor restrictions were relaxed. It contains an account of the sinking of a submarine which is quite thrilling and other matter which will be read with interest by his friends, both civilians and soldiers. He says:

"At last I have the opportunity to reveal to you the course of events in which I have participated since my departure from the U. S. A.

"After close confinement in which all information was withheld from us for two days, in the early hours of July 15th we were ordered to depart for the port of embarkation which later proved to be Pier 58, New York City. How well I remember as I lay thinking, in the early hours of the morning, of home and what the future held in store for me.

"At last just before 2 a. m. the order was given, 'Fall In.' Oh how quiet the boys were; here and there a smothered laugh, but mostly solemn whispering. At last we were off to face the adventure, bidding Camp Upton, L. I., farewell. I will never forget the sight as the long brown column swung off into the darkness. We were not martialed away by the flare of music, but quietly faded into the night. Any attempt at conversation was sternly reprimanded by the officers. This was my first realization that I was at last off to war.

"We marched down to where the troop trains were sidetracked awaiting us. We quickly and quietly boarded them and whirled away, everything like clock-work. I realized then what a tremendous task Uncle Sam must have in transporting his great army across the sea and at the same time outwitting the Hun subs. We arrived in Long Island City just as the dawn was breaking, where ferries were in readiness for our transportation to Pier 58. As we glided down the East River in the early hours of morning, under the gigantic bridges with the sky line of the great city on both sides, many hearts were heavy, but all laughed and joked among themselves as we warped up to the huge docks of Pier 58, where great liners with their camouflaged sides were waiting to receive us.

"We hastily disembarked on the great pier and were soon marching up the gang-plank of the Royal Mail Steamer of the Cunard Line, Saxonia. We were soon assigned to various departments and ready to partake of our first mess. Long will I remember that pungent appetizing odor of

WORKERS WANTED

Officials of the Red Cross are asking for workers to assemble in the workroom of the Chapter Saturday morning to assist in the manufacture of banners which are to be hung across the main public thoroughfare to speak a welcome to the returning soldiers and sailors as they come back from overseas and from camps in this country. Not many workers have reported for duty of late at the workroom. This labor of love is quite a tax and it is not fair to leave it entirely to the few faithful souls who come day after day to carry on the routine work of the sewing department.

BALLOT TO ANNEX

ELECTION TO ADD GRAND VIEW TO GLENDALE CARRIES BY VOTE OF 31 TO 24

The election to annex to the City of Glendale the territory known as the Grand View District, took place Tuesday, January 21st, and was carried by a vote of 31 to 24. This vote settles the matter unless some technical point is raised under which the courts set aside the verdict by ballot. If it is not upset the vote will be officially counted at the regular meeting of the Glendale City Trustees next Thursday evening when an ordinance will be passed accepting the annexation. A copy of the ordinance will later be filed with the Secretary of State. All these steps consume about six weeks before annexation can become effective.

The Grand View District is northwest of Glendale adjoining Burbank. It takes in a portion of the south side of Kenneth Road east of Grand View avenue and includes the Black and Reynolds places. From that point the line runs south to the Southern Pacific Railroad.

CALIFORNIA STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION ORDERS PACIFIC TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY NOT TO PUT TOLL RATES INTO EFFECT

"W. E. EVANS, City Attorney, Glendale, California.

"The Commission has this day ordered the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company not to put into effect until further orders of this Commission, toll rates where free switching is now being accorded between Glendale, Los Angeles, Burbank and other communities involved in Application No. 3280.

TRUSTEE'S MEETING

CITY ATTORNEY AUTHORIZED TO ATTEND R. R. COMMISSION HEARING

The Board assembled at 8:10 p. m., Thursday, January 23d, all members present. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from James E. Barker, addressed to the City Attorney, W. E. Evans, stating that it is not practicable to render a complete report covering the work done by him in preparation of the case of the City of Glendale vs. the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, before the Railroad Commission, owing to the fact that the case was removed from the Commission's calendar before his work was completed. Enclosed with the same letter was a copy of a letter, dated December 31, 1918, in reference to the same subject. The communication was ordered filed.

A communication was read from J. L. Pomeroy, Health Officer, of Los Angeles County, addressed to City Manager Watson, accompanied by a copy of an act which the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county and the Committee on Sanitation of the Grand Jury, have endorsed for enactment into law, requesting that our assemblyman be asked to interest himself in the passage of the bill. The law which the county desires enacted proposes to give to the County Health Officer supervision of the health department of incorporated cities within the county. The communication was ordered filed.

The City Manager reported in regard to the garbage matter that he had received two or three bids for this service, one from Carpi Brothers, offering to do the work for two months; one from Mr. McLaughlin offering to do the same service for two hundred fifty ($250) dollars per month, and an offer from Mr. Loudermilk to pay fifty ($50) dollars per

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENT

Miss Evangeline Huntley and Mr. Seymour Smith, whose engagement has just been announced by Miss Huntley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. G. Huntley, were the complimented guests at a dinner party on Tuesday evening, January the twenty-first, by Mr. and Mrs. William Elmer Evans, at their home on Orange street. The date for the occasion was chosen because of its being the birthday of both Miss Huntley and the hostess.

The living rooms were gay with red carnations and greenery, the dining room was kept in the conventional wedding white.

In the center of the dining table a slender glass vase held a bouquet of bride's roses and smilax. Smilax interspersed with Chinese lily blossoms was arranged around the center piece and its runners over the cloth. On a mirror beneath the canopy of bride's roses stood a tiny kewpie wedding party, the bride in a long, white veil with her bridal bouquet quite in evidence and the groom cunningly tailored in his full dress coat of black. Silver candlesticks with pale green tapers, white bon bon baskets and place cards bearing dainty hand-colored brides completed the setting.

Before seating her guests the hostess proposed a toast to the bride-to-be and her affianced which was a tribute in rhyme to the esteem in which the happy couple are held by all who know them.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. John G. Huntley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, Miss Evangeline Huntley, Miss Virginia Huntley, Miss Catherine Evans, Mr. Seymour Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Evans.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Saturday. Light to heavy frosts Saturday morning.

CALIFORNIA'S RATIFICATION

STATE SUPREME COURT HOLDS GOVERNOR HAS RIGHT TO CERTIFY TO LEGISLATURE'S ACTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Sacramento, Jan. 24.—The state supreme court today handed down an opinion holding that Governor Stephens has the right to certify to Washington the ratification of national prohibition by the California Legislature. The decision was made in the proceedings brought by wet forces to prevent the Governor's certifying the legislature's action.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Jan. 24.—California's certification of the ratification of national prohibition reached here Monday. California was the twenty-eighth state to ratify.

OPPOSES RECOGNITION OF VICTOR BERGER

CONVICTION OF SOCIALIST CONGRESSMAN OF DISLOYALTY JEOPARDIZES HIS SEAT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Jan. 24.—Congressman Gillett of Massachusetts, a candidate for the speakership of the House, issued a statement today, declaring that the first business of the new House should be refusal to seat Victor Berger, Socialist Congressman elected from Milwaukee, on the ground that he has been convicted of disloyalty.

PLANNING BIG COMMERCIAL CAMPAIGN

GERMANY SAID TO BE MAKING ARRANGEMENTS TO CONCENTRATE ALL HER ENERGIES ON COMMERCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Jan. 24.—American officials here today issued a warning to American business men that Germany is planning a big commercial campaign. It was pointed out that prior to the war Germany had devoted half of her energies to war preparations and one-half to the extension of her commercial interests. It was declared that Germany now purposes to concentrate all of her strength on commerce.

FILIBUSTER AGAINST FAMINE FUND BILL

DECLARED TO BE IN INTEREST OF PACKERS AND PRODUCERS, AND NOT STARVING EUROPE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Jan. 24.—Members of the Senate today, in opposing the hundred million dollar famine fund bill, made charges that the bill not only is in the interest of the meat packers, but also in the interest of all food producers, who believe that food prices in the United States will go down immediately unless something is done to stimulate other markets.

A movement to talk the bill to death developed in the Senate. Administration leaders were frankly uncertain as to what tactics to adopt in the face of the filibuster. The majority of the Senators are utterly doubtful concerning the measure.

It was declared that Hoover had not denied the charges that he had created a market for the packers' products, but that he had admitted them. No one charges Hoover with improper motives, but there is a feeling that the famine bill is not so much designed to serve starving Europe as it is to fulfill the food administration's agreements with the packers and hog raisers.

COMMUNITY SING

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION EFFECTED AT THURSDAY EVENING MEETING

The Thursday night Community Sing was quite an eventful meeting. Not as large an audience as usual assembled, there being about 150 present, because of counter attractions, but it was a profitable meeting for singers upon whom Prof. Kirchoffer emphasized the necessity of memorizing the words of the songs they sing if they are to do justice to them and get the most out of them for their own enjoyment and the reputation of the chorus. He drilled them in the memorizing of "Auld Lang Syne," and was delighted when they demonstrated they could sing four verses of "America" without referring to the book. He also drilled them in "Hail Columbia," which they have not sung heretofore, also in some new songs.

In this connection announcement is made that a further supply of song books which the organization has not been able to secure heretofore because the Los Angeles stocks gave out, have been ordered from San Francisco and will be available at the next meeting of the chorus.

The eventful feature of the evening was the business session following the sing at which a permanent organization was effected and officers were elected as follows:

Alexander Mitchell, President, Blake Franklin, Vice-President, Mrs. Annie L. Pack, Secretary, Herman Nelson, Treasurer, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Accompanist.

As it was the sense of those present that the Sings should be free to all comers, in spite of the fact that funds must be raised to support them, a call was made for monthly pledges and in less than five minutes an income of $30 a month had been guaranteed.

Pledge cards were also placed in the hands of officials for distribution and given to those present by means of which the recipients could pledge any amount per month from ten cents to ten dollars. It was believed that the majority of those who attend will want to show their appreciation in a practical way and this pledge will be absolutely voluntary and will not be made public in any way so that all may adjust their contributions to their financial circumstances. At the same time the idea is to have the Sing a wide open, community affair to which every citizen will be welcome whether he has contributed or not. The cards may be had from any of the officials mentioned.

The organization also adopted a constitution in which the object of the association was stated as follows:

"The objects of this association shall be: (1) Instruction and practice in the essentials of vocal music, and chorus singing; (2) promotion of an active community spirit; (3) development and maintenance of a lofty, practical patriotism; and (4) relaxation and recreation of its members; these objects to be attained by means of weekly meetings of those members of the community who may desire to attend, under the leadership of a competent vocal instructor, who will instruct and drill those present in the singing of appropriate songs."

Other articles provided for the naming of the organization, viz.: "Glendale Community Sing," for a staff of officers—setting forth their duties; providing that any person of good moral character may become a member by subscribing to the constitution; making provisions for committees, etc.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENING

Regular school sessions will be resumed at Glendale Union High School Monday morning, January 27th. All classes will meet as usual.

COMING INTO ITS OWN

DEALERS REPORT STEADY STREAM OF INQUIRIES FOR GLENDALE REALTY

It is a cheering sign to see the broad smile of satisfaction which illuminates the faces of real estate operators of this city when approached with inquiries relative to business conditions in their line. The majority shy at giving particulars of their operations and seem to think it well not to let the left hand know what the right is doing, but all declare there is a constant stream of inquiries from people who mean business and that more real estate is changing hands than at any time in several years. Activity in real estate is the normal condition in Southern California. The embargo imposed by war acted as a kind of dam which has now been removed and a flood-tide appears to have set in. It should not, however, they say, turn the heads of property owners, who should improve the present opportunities wisely and soberly.

Because of the increased demands of his business, Calvin Whiting has engaged a real estate salesman in the person of W. A. Morrison, of Eagle Rock, to aid him in showing property. Mr. Morrison is a reliable, experienced man, well-acquainted with Southern California and with values in this particular district and is equipped to give the sort of assistance Mr. Whiting needs.

Speaking of the favorable aspects of the situation, Mr. Whiting admits that sales are being made daily by real estate operators and that the majority are cash sales; also, they are for the better class of houses, above rather than below the average; at the same time there is more demand for bungalows than anything else in the residence line. These are not sacrificial sales, but the considerations paid more nearly approach real values than at any period in Glendale's recent history. In connection with what he had to say of the demand for homes here, Mr. Whiting remarked:

"If we would only make up our minds to face the situation, houses could still be built even with the present high prices of labor and material and be sold at a profit. There is going to be an opening here for capital which will undertake to build houses that will sell for from $4,000 to $8,000. They would find a ready

FUNERAL OF JESSIE MOCK

Funeral services over the body of Jessie Mock, which were held in the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Thursday afternoon, were very largely attended, as the young girl who was then laid to rest had a large circle of friends and commanded in an unusual degree the respect of the community. A wealth of floral tributes, many of them elaborate and very handsome pieces, testified to the esteem in which she was held and the universal sympathy for her bereaved family.

SHIPPING ASPARAGUS

Messrs. Guy and Isaac Pearson, who have been in Brawley, Imperial Valley, for some time, are now visiting their families in this city on Lomita and Harvard streets, before going to Oakley to pack and ship asparagus for the New York market. Oakley is near Sacramento, the heart of a district which produces large crops of asparagus, and Messrs. Pearson are distributing agents for a New York Exchange.

THE ARMENIAN DRIVE

UNITED EFFECTIVE WORK BRINGS $2,500 AND MORE IN SIGHT

Chairman Ezra Parker and his associates in the Armenian-Syrian Relief Drive are a proud and happy bunch over the record Glendale is making in subscriptions to that worthy cause. Money is still coming in and receipts now total more than $2,500, which is not so bad for our little old town at the tail-end of a war in which it has more than met all demands made upon it for funds. It shows that Glendale is essentially altruistic, that her resources are almost inexhaustible if the right sort of an appeal is made. It shows, too, a spirit of co-operation. If that spirit of working and giving can but continue in an effort to build up the city and in presenting an united front in any fight against justice no limit can be set to what it may achieve. It is the standing together which produces effective results and which makes a people invincible.

BUTTER DROPS

Jan. 24, 1919.

Editor of Evening News:—

Dear Sir:—

Apropos to the startling drop in the wholesale prices of butter, it might be interesting to your readers to account for this slump in prices. The prices of butter have been considerably higher this year than others, owing to war and the government orders to be filled. Now the war is over things will get gradually back to normal although, I believe, oleomargarine selling for 30c a pound less than butter has had a tendency to bring the price of butter down. It goes to prove that competition is good for the public and when an article becomes prohibitive, people discard it and conditions readjust themselves. Yours truly,

F. BOOTH,

STATE NEWS

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Charging that a combine of Japanese gardeners backed by eastern capital is keeping garden-produce prices sky high in Los Angeles, members of the city council have demanded a complete investigation of the affairs of the alleged vegetable trust.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—The alien citizenship resolution now before the California legislature has been introduced in Congress. The measure originated by Assemblyman Wendering, Berkeley, asks that congress adopt legislation providing that aliens in this country, with a few exceptions, be required either to become citizens within eight years or leave America. Congressman Arthur Elston, representative from Alameda county, presented the measure at Washington for the information of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization. It has not yet been acted upon by the California legislature. Strong objection to the measure is anticipated, particularly by Orientals.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Although an assemblyman—and assemblywoman—draws but $1,000 salary for his two-year term in office, it is declared that at least double that amount was spent to elect one of the members of the present lower house. That this constitutes an evil is contended and legislation will be introduced to limit a candidate's expenditures to 25 per cent. of the total salary sought. Or then again, some one might suggest raising the salary to four times the expenditures.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—The automobilists who smashes and runs away, will not live to do it another day, if a bill by Senator Flaherty, San Francisco, gets in its work according to schedule. The act provides that celluloid or paper stickers, bearing the license number of the car, be pasted around the rim of each headlight at four-inch intervals, and around the windshield at not more than 10-inch intervals. In lieu of the stickers the glass may be etched. If a motorist is in a smash-up, some of the broken glass that he leaves will be bound to carry his license number, and his detection will be greatly simplified, says Flaherty.

A NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE

When best butter costs wholesale 56c a pound and you see a grocer advertising best butter retail for 55c, you can bet your bottom dollar there's something wrong. It's either a third rate butter or tub butter not so good as oleo and only good enough for cart-wheel grease.

When you see select fresh laid eggs quoted wholesale at 59c and 60c dozen and you find a grocer advertising them for 59c dozen retail, you can put two and two together that that party is a fit candidate for Patton of he has a philanthropic trend, or else they are little pullets' eggs or cold storage eggs imported from China, the dirtiest and most filthy country in the world.

When you find a grocer paying 11c wholesale a loaf for bread and retailing it for 10c a loaf, that man is a benefactor of mankind, a fine business man, but you bet his poor clerks don't get much more than 25 a week salary. That man is going to finish in the millionaire class, a sand reader or some other medium.

If you notice these baits are generally put out as Saturday or week-end specials and on Monday up go the prices, and the poor suckers, the American people, mostly stand for it. One poor, deluded mortal from North Glendale pays five cents each way to purchase an article she says she can buy for less; then she finds out afterward that she could have bought it for 5c less from Booth and had it delivered right to her home and been 11 cents to the good, besides saving time and worry. For when she got home again everything was in the soup, fault of baby playing with fire.

Don't be beguiled. There is no store open just for health's sake alone.

Booth believes in a fair profit all around commensurate with quality. That's the way he is building up the biggest, brightest and cleanest business in Glendale.

Booth will gladly give you prices on any goods over the phone and deliver.

"DARK HORSE" MAY BE SPEAKER

GROWING SENTIMENT IN NATIONAL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR "NEW DEAL ALL AROUND"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
Washington, Jan. 24.—The race for the speakership of the House has developed to a stage where there is a chance for a dark horse to come out victorious.

"There is a growing sentiment that chances for Republican success in 1920 will be enhanced if old leaders are dropped and the people are given a 'new deal all around.' Leaders feel that the arrival of sixty-one new Congressmen on March 4 may have the effect of heightening this sentiment.

Democratic leaders who are closely watching the contest maintain that Representative Longworth of Ohio has beaten Mann and Gillett, the other two in the race, as the matter now stands.

Mrs. Worley, of 527 North Kenwood street, who fell ill the 31st day of December, is now able to be out.
All the members of her family including Mr. Worley were down with the malady at once except her oldest son. They are now recovered.

The residence which Mr. and Mrs.
L. N. Hagood have been occupying on Salem street has recently been sold and the Hagoods will move in the near future to 215 W. Chestnut street into the house vacated by Mrs.
Lane who is going to Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, of Santa Barbara, and Miss Patrick, of the same city, motored up on Thursday to spend the week-end in this city. Miss Patrick is the guest of her sister,
Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, and the Kirks are being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly, of Brand boulevard.

Good news comes from the C. L.
Chandler home at 811 North Central avenue. The children of the family, Sarah, Barbara and Davis Chandler, who have been ill of influenza for about a week, are now convalescent, and Mr. Chandler hopes they will recover so rapidly that the quarantine can be lifted from his home in the near future.

Rev. O. P. Rider will accompany
a party of young people to Immanuel
Presbyterian Church, Los Angeles, Sunday morning, to participate in an all-day service to promote the New Era Movement. There will be no evening services in the Tropic Presbyterian Church, of which he is pastor and in the morning Rev. C. R.
Norton, of this city, will supply for him.

Last Friday Miss Cookman, a teacher in the public schools of Whittier, and daughter of Rev. W. W.
Cookman, pastor of West Glendale
M. E. Church, this city, came home suffering with influenza. The Cookman household was at once quarantined and the pastor will not be able to conduct services at his church on Sunday. Miss Cookman is making an excellent recovery and it is expected the quarantine will be lifted in the near future.

Mrs. Francis H. Nichols of North
Adams street was in Glendale Thursday calling upon old friends. She has rented her home here for several months and is now located in Los Angeles in the Exposition Park district near her daughter. Her grandson, Frederick Nichols, who has been in service at Camp Lewis
for a good many months, has received his discharge and is now in the service of the government at one of the steel ship building plants in the North.

SALVAGE AND SHOP

L. T. Rowley, Chairman of Salvage, was rejoicing yesterday over good work done in sorting and tying papers to make them ready for another shipment to Los Angeles. The accomplishment was due chiefly to assistance furnished by Miss May-belle Douglas, Miss Jacoby and pupils of the Cerritos School, who came to the warehouse and put in several hours of efficient service.

Mr. Rowley states that the most urgent instructions are now being received from Red Cross headquarters to maintain at top efficiency the salvage and shop work that funds
may be provided for the service which the Red Cross must continue to render to soldiers, sick and well,
abroad, and in camps and hospitals
in this country also for its relief work among the civilian populations of Europe. Now that hostilities are over there is a tendency to relax effort all along the line. Mr. Rowley is very much alive to the demand for funds and the opportunities to trans-mute the waste in salvage into sinews of war for the Red Cross. He is not sparing himself and is on the job day and night. Glendale is pretty wide-awake on the subject and has done splendid work. He is anxious the situation should be thoroughly understood and that there should be no slackening of effort.

In this connection Mrs. Jack Boet-tner, Chairman of the Red Cross Shop, would welcome assistants in that work who have bright ideas in regard to developing and carrying it on. She herself has done yeoman service and is still in harness, but she should have more abundant assistance from those who are ready to share her responsibilities, and aid her in converting materials reclaimed from salvage collections into salable objects. Here is a fine opportunity for people with ideas.

WHY OUR PRAYER IS NOT ANSWERED

Preceding the regular services held at the New Thought center, a few selections from the Upaneshads were read by the speaker, Dr. Frank L. Riley.

This sacred book of the Hindoos contains the most profound philosophy in the world. The truth herein spoken of is identical with that which Jesus taught. Truth is universal and is found in all religions; it forms
the basis of all natural law, and all religions are formed about it as a mosaic figure, each and all being necessary to complete a perfect scheme, and bringing "peace upon earth and good will to all men."

The Hindoo name for God is Bramah, meaning mind. We all possess a mind, so did Jesus, but a divine mind in Jesus ruled.

As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he; therefore, we must reflect on God who rules all good. He who knows Brahman knows God.

God is greater than the universe;
He is the infinite spirit; He is all love, all understanding, and is everlasting; He is all light, all life and health. Sin is ignorance and to conquer sin is to know God, and to see health through the veil of weakness, then shall we be able to help and to heal others.

After the silent prayer for love,
harmony and health for all persons afflicted in mind or body, the following discourse on "Why Our Prayer
Is Not Answered," was given:

All is ours for the asking, and yet
the Bible says our prayer is not answered. If we do not get what we want, it is because we ask amiss.
People ask for material things and expect God to answer their prayer.
What would this world be if all prayers were answered?

Where would all the nations be if the Kaiser's prayers had been answered?

Only the fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. He will call and I will answer.

The first verse of the 91st Psalm
is the keynote to the whole chapter.
In the secret place of the Most High,
in the cave of the heart, we hear the voice of God, and until we enter this secret place of the Most High, our prayers will not be answered. Before entering into the secret chamber,
close every fetter which means all sense of material gains; do not allow them to break into the place where God dwells; shut out all worry, anger, each unhappy thought, and all worldly aspirations. Give the mind a holiday to every outer sense, and be still mentally as well as physically.
Learn to be still. "Be still and know that I am God." Psa. 46, 10.
Be still and see health back of sickness; look for the God-spirit within and wake it up; bring it out, and see the perfect, higher self. Do not look down upon the drunkard; lift him up, awaken the divine spark within, and bring a healthful, supreme atmosphere about him.

When you go into the silence, enter with a clear conscience. Then will you see with the spiritual insight which penetrates all error and beyond all that physical eyesight could. Then will you be able to lift up the broken-hearted and to restore them to health, and to a life of usefulness. Learn to be still, then know the truth, and knowing the truth will set you free, not just believing it, but know and live it, then will your prayers be answered.

Usually there is an idol of something that prevents a soul's advancing; it may be worry of some kind;
it may be anger, vanity, pride, selfishness, love of pleasures, or self-will; all must be conquered before a spiritual realization of prayer can be answered. You cannot have love and hold onto selfishness.

We must be earnest and steadfast, not luke-warm. We do not live the Christ-life as fervently as we do the material life. What are we willing to sacrifice for truth? We gain according to the amount we give.

We must grow in wisdom and know the truth. We must understand and obey the law. We must reach the point where we cannot have disease; we must bring our thoughts into action, then will our prayers be answered. Prayer and action go hand in hand.

Dr. Peebles, the well-known author and lecturer, spoke a few and fitting words. He said:

I am pleased to be with you all this morning and more than pleased to meet my friend, Dr. Riley, and I must say, "I esteem him." He carried me back to India when he read

month for the garbage delivered to his place between Glendale and Burbank. The Manager reported that he had figured the cost as between the proposition of Carpi Brothers and that of Mr. Loudermilk, and finds there would be very little difference between them in expense; he therefore recommended the acceptance of the bid of Carpi Brothers. On motion of Trustee Henry, it was ordered that a contract be drawn up, to be entered into with Carpi Brothers (who shall furnish a $1,000.00 bond) to be presented at the next meeting of the Board.

The City Manager made a report on conditions on Acacia Ave., near Central Ave., where a sidewalk and curb had been installed without leaving any space for the parkway, making roadway communication with the street and private property difficult. No action was taken.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, action in regard to the sale of a horse owned by the City was deferred for one week.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, the City Attorney was authorized to proceed to San Francisco for the purpose of being present at the hearing before the Railroad Commission of the telephone rate matter.

A resolution was presented appointing H. A. Eddy, City Engineer of the City of Glendale, which was, on motion of Trustee Muhleman, seconded by Trustee Henry, adopted as Resolution 1062.

On motion of Trustee Henry, the Police Department was instructed to enforce the provisions of the ordinance prohibiting the use of open mufflers on auto vehicles including motorcycles, and the practice of back firing.

Trustee Jackson offered an ordinance amending Ordinance No. 301, regulating hospitals and sanitariums, which was read and laid over for one week.

Trustee Shaw presented a statement addressed to the people of the City of Glendale by the Board of Trustees of the City giving information as to the condition of the Public Service Department and explaining the necessity for the increase in rates to be charged for light and water, and on his motion it was ordered that the same be published in the Glendale Evening News.

Demands were referred back by the Finance Committee, approved, and, on motion of Trustee Shaw, warrants in payment of the same were ordered to be issued.

market. Those which are in greatest demand now are the ones that were built the latest. Cash is going to be an important element in the business. This "dollar down and dollar a month" idea isn't in it in today's realty market.

James W. Pearson confirmed the reports of other dealers relative to the demand for real estate from visitors to Glendale who had been impressed with the city as a desirable place of residence. Referring to the opportunities for bargains in ready-built houses, Mr. Pearson referred to a statement made by him to a reliable contractor who assured him that the cost of building a good, five-room bungalow would closely approach $2,500 at the present time, yet there are some excellent properties on the market that can now be bought for that figure which couldn't possibly be duplicated if built today.

Said Mr. Pearson: "People are going to be forced to buy and build in order to keep a shelter over their heads." He then referred to a recent sale in Glendale made by Mrs. Cunningham of a large house on Salem street, which has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Hagood, who are being reluctantly forced to move. The house occupied by LeRoy W. Bosserman, on Central avenue, has also been sold recently.

Referring to his own sales he mentioned the transfer of a piece of property at the corner of Louise street and Windsor Road which had been sold to a Mr. A. G. Hayes, of Boston, who was a guest at Hotel Roslyn, Los Angeles, where he asked the clerk to recommend an attractive suburb. The clerk mentioned Glendale. Mr. Hayes took a P. E. car came out, liked the appearance of the town and bought without wasting time. The demand is brisk, Mr. Pearson declares, with a considerable inquiry for acres.

that department which much resembled that of a stock yard.

"About 4 p. m. we were towed out into the mighty Hudson where other ships fell in behind us, our ship being the flagship of the entire convoy. It was not long before we took our last look at the Statue of Liberty. We were guided on by an United States Battle Cruiser and were accompanied by scout planes, observation balloons and sub pursuers. The scouts and observers departed at dusk leaving us to our own fate.

"After two days' voyage we dropped anchor in Halifax Harbor, Nova Scotia, where we enjoyed the beautiful scenery of the beautiful old French city and its surrounding country. Here we had a fair view of the ruins caused by the explosion of the ammunition ship. We stayed in port two days in view of the fact that a ship had just been torpedoed out of port.

"At the end of this time our safety being assured we weighed anchor and steamed out upon the High Seas, where we were joined by other transports, this making our convoy the largest up to that time that had sailed from America with troops for the Am. E. F., the number totaling 23 in all. We sailed on and on in a zig-zag course wending our way far to the northward, coming in contact with icebergs. Day after day passed until at last we were met by a number of sub-chasers, about 400 miles off the coast of Ireland.

"Everything went well until 3:15 in the afternoon of the 15th day of our voyage, when suddenly all were startled by a terrible thud caused by the explosion of a depth bomb thrown by a ship on our port side. But a few seconds elapsed until the entire decks, rafts and rigging swarmed with eager-hearted, red-blooded Sammies awaiting the glimpse of the first Hun sub, whose periscope soon sprang to our view from a breaking wave. Its course was directed towards our ship but was soon turned by the firing of several bombs from our port side. After crossing directly in front of our ship, the Saxonia, the exact range was gotten by an English sailor, our gunner on the port side, who fired the fatal shot, striking the periscope. There was a mighty explosion and a huge flash of flames casting the ruthless Hun into his watery grave. The wild cheers of the enthusiastic boys rang out from the depths of their hearts. Two other subs were gotten by the chasers a mile or so distant from the main fleet, all this taking place in the same zone in which the Lusitania met her fate.

"Steaming up the Merz River on July 31st, we arose to view the most welcomed sight of the entire journey, which was land, and later the beautiful city of Liverpool. Long will that scene be vivid in our minds.

"About 3 p. m. we warped up to the docks and disembarked, receiving the glad hand of welcome extended by the English people. There we took a Midland train for Southampton, England. Our journey was through the most picturesque part of Southern England, and it justly deserves the name, 'The Garden Spot of the World,' as it is often called. At 4 a. m. we marched into the so-called rest camp, just out of Southampton, where we tried in vain to get some much-needed rest. About all we accomplished here was to overcome our sea legs. The following evening we marched aboard the channel steamer, Narragansett, where we made ourselves as comfortable as possible for the trip across the channel. We arrived at Le Havre, France, at break of day.

"Our first view of France was through a heavy mist and fog. After wearily plodding along under our heavy packs, we at last arrived at a rest camp on the hill overlooking the city. Here we remained in camouflaged tents during the day, so as not to be spied by an enemy plane that might be scouting about. Little sleep did we get that night on our beds of boards and for the roar of guns at the front. The following day we were loaded into cars capable of hauling forty hommes or eight chevaux, meaning forty men or eight horses. What a scramble there was for even room to exist.

"The scenery through the Seine valley reminded us much of some of the fertile valleys of the U. S.; but the cities of Rouen, Paris, Orleans and French villages had a particular characteristic of their own, different from any we had ever seen before. We arrived in Romorantin 4 p. m., August 5th, where we have remained in camp, one and one-half miles from the city, to the present time. This is the largest air service production center in France and is known as Air Service Production Center No. 2. There are a number of large factories and plants for the assembling, repairing and salvaging planes, in which many of the soldiers are employed. French women are also employed in certain departments, but the hardest and most undesirable work is done by Chinese labor. Men of most every nationality of the globe are seen on our streets. The production here surpasses that of a manufacturing city of two hundred thousand in the States. Second to the largest refrigerating plant in the world, railroad yards, miles of warehouses and large flying fields are located here. This camp is on direct communication both by wire and by rail, at all times, with the front.

"General Pershing in one of his visits to our camp, commended very highly the work done here and the spirit of the men, saying that each and every man by faithfully performing his duties here was contributing just as much and was just as necessary and essential to the final victory as the men in the trenches. 'He was doing his bit.'"
